

Blooming Fire is a Los Angeles based, brother and sister fronted five piece psych-rock band who prides themselves on being leaders for justice, sustainability and a voice for change. They deliver an eclectic sound with rock guitar, funk slap bass, dubby & droning electronic thwumps, cascading nature samples, hip-hop flows, bass heavy beats, and power lead vocals laced with harmonies which takes you on an emotional & musical ride. They've been making waves in Los Angeles, selling out the Teregram Ballroom and playing the Hollywood House of Blues. They've performed live on K-Beach Radio 88.1 Long Beach and have been interviewed by K-Day Radio 93.5 Los Angeles on Amanda Wrights show Do The Right Thing. Their sound will never be restricted to one genre but Blooming Fire's defining sound is their own and takes you on an emotional & musical ride which permeates through the psychedelic waves of life.
